Course for Ph.D. students
40th cycle (Nov 2024 – Oct 2027) and 41th cycle (Nov 2025 – Oct 2028)

Preclinical animal models for drug development in human diseases.
(1 ECTS)

Carmine Giorgio, PhD
UNIVERSITY OF PARMA

Course language: Italian

Schedule
17/09/2026 14:00 – 17:00 Aula E
18/09/2026 14:00 – 17:00 Aula E

To attend the course please contact:
carmine.giorgio@unipr.it

Course description

The aim of the course is to give a critical overview about the advantages and disadvantages of the preclinical animal models used in the drug development. A comparison between past present and future experimental models will be addressed highlighting how the new insights into human disease lead the development of the next generation of in vivo animal models.