Papers should analyse the influence of the NGEU in defining a new political, economic, and constitutional setup for the European Union, preferably with a multidisciplinary approach. Specifically, starting from the role of the NGEU as a possible new model for the development of the Union also beyond 2026, the contributions could focus on aspects such as, for instance, the potential replicability of the common debt system, the increasing shift of policy-making at the European level and the strengthening of the European integration process.
